Mary Young Will Marry Stage Lover

Engagement To Don West Result Of Part In Recent Drama League Play

Thespis borrowed Cupid's quiver as the final curtain fell on the local Drama League's first play, and sent one of the young busybody's fatal arrows through the production's two principals. It wasn't in the script of "Comedy in April" for the wily woman of the world to wed the abused juvenile lead. But how was the script to know?

At various Christmas parties Mary Young and Don West's engagement was announced by the bride-to-be's mother, Miss Young is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Young, of Belle Vue Court, while West is son of Mrs. Arthur Browne, of Pasadena. They first met two months ago as they were cast opposite each other in the leading roles of the play. Their stage characters were estranged before the final curtain—but they wrote their own prologue outside of rehearsal time.

Don West graduated from the University of California at Berkeley this year. Although born and raised in Pasadena, he was attracted to Sierra Madre by the Art League. He moved here several months ago and established bachelor quarters on Auburn avenue. He has displayed unusual talent as an artist but has selected architecture as a vocation.

The first revelation of the romance was made at a midday party at the home of Miss Young's aunt, Mrs. J. C. Thurman, in Long Beach. Those present at this affair were Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Thurman, Mrs. Grace Ward, Miss Marjorie Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Stoddard, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stoddard, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Lynn, Miss Ellen Lynn, Robert Lynn, Mrs. L. Picard and the honor guests.

Other friends of the young couple were told of the news at a dinner party in the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Browne. Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. F. Bliss, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Funk, M. Hydenrick, Miss Patsy Morgan, Miss Margie Whitting, Miss Ellen Smith, Miss Marie Laherge, Mrs. L. Picard, Gus Funk, Frank Trolis, Findly McBurney and Phil Carter.

Another City Park Is Now Taking Form

Ornamentation Of Spreading Grounds To Be Inspected By Garden Club

Sierra Madre will someday soon have a third city park, it present plans of Business Manager Al S. Myers for beautification of the spreading ground property north of East Central avenue near the eastern boundary are carried to completion.

Already an ornamental stone wall has been constructed along the Grand View avenue city property line, and work has commenced on a similar protective wall to completely surround the grounds. When all necessary rough work has been finished on the basins and conduit ditches it is the intention of the City to build stone bridges across the ditches, smooth out foot-paths, plant trees, trail vines and greenery over terraces and barren ground and in every possible manner make the spot one comparable to Bailey Canyon.

The Garden Section of the Woman's Club and guests are to make a tour of inspection of the spreading grounds next Thursday and have this latest project, which is being carried out with CWA funds, explained to them.

Name Heads For 1934 Red Cross Work

Call For Help By Flood Victims—Chapter Wins Letter Of Praise

The Sierra Madre Chapter of the Red Cross is in receipt of a telegram from A. L. Shafer, Pacific Division Chairman, stating that over a thousand families have been rendered homeless by the floods in Washington and Idaho and that the Red Cross needs $50,000 for relief and rehabilitation work. Sierra Madre is asked to contribute $65 of this amount. Donations will be received at the Chapter office.

The regular monthly meeting of the chapter was held in the City Hall on Tuesday afternoon. As Miss Louise Judson, executive secretary, was confined to her home with a severe attack of pleurisy, Miss Hope Spring acted as temporary secretary.

On motion of Dean Bode a resolution of regret for Miss Judson's illness and hope for her speedy recovery was passed.

Miss Marion Vannier, chapter chairman, announced the executive committee had appointed the following committee chairmen to serve during 1934 and that they had all accepted the responsibilities: Braille, Mrs. M. D. Welsher; Finance, George Rikeman; First Aid, Joe Swanson; Home Hygiene, Mrs. J. N. Hawks; Home Service, Ray O. Calkin; Junior Red Cross, (Continued on Page Five)

SANTA CLAUS BRINGS TON OF FOOD FOR CHRISTMAS DINNERS THAT LOCAL UNEMPLOYED ENJOYED

Thirty-three Families Enjoy 75 Per Cent Discount On Gas Bills

SANTA CLAUS saw to it that there was Christmas Cheer for Sierra Madre families whose members belong to the local Unemployed Relief Association. A shipment of over a ton of foodstuffs arrived here for distribution on Saturday. From Federal food surpluses, the supply included 353 pounds of salt pork, 550 pounds of sugar, 20 gallons of cooking oil, 14 pounds of baking powder, 64 pounds of peanut brittle, 90 pounds of coffee, 156 cans of milk, as well as a quantity of dried apples, bread, soap, pepper, oleomargarine, macaroni, weenies and cocoa. This food was given out to 31 families at the association's Auburn avenue headquarters.

In connection with the help extended to members of the relief organization, Jack Beaudoin, manager of the local association, this week announced that 33 families are being aided by the Unemployed Distribution Committee by guarantee of 75 per cent of gas bills, thus leaving but a small amount to be paid by individuals.

At the present time, of the 100 men employed on the CWA project 20 are association members, and an additional 21 are registered for such work. Those who are unable by reason of age or disability to do heavy labor are employed on the organization's grounds at work fitted to their strength.

Dr Roman May Come To Forum Session Here On January 16

A meeting of the Sierra Madre Forum Society scheduled for next Tuesday has been cancelled and the date set ahead to the third Tuesday in January, the 16th, at 7:30. It was announced yesterday. There is a possibility that Dr. Frederic Roman will participate in the open discussion of the economic situation.

Thief Steals Seven Hives Of Bees; And Cactus

THE world's most intrepid thief is loose in Sierra Madre! On the night of December 20 a person or persons unknown stole from the East Central property of Robert Jaeger, seven beehives, all alive with bees. Chief McMullan is quite sure that in attempting to trace the guilty one, he will be on the lookout for someone who has a way with bees—and perhaps has a honeyed tongue.

The bee thief probably has a way with cactus, too, for dozens of the finest specimens of cactus, the real bristling, hard-to-handle varieties, have recently disappeared from the Jaeger cactus garden, one of the show places here.

Sign Of Better Times Seen As Men Quit CWA Work To Take Old Jobs

Material and indisputable evidence that Old Man Depression is on the run was driven home in Sierra Madre this week when six percent of the men employed on local CWA projects withdrew from the Federal payroll because jobs in their individual lines of work awaited them once more. A total of seven men thus opened as many jobs to unemployed.

"If that same ratio holds throughout the Nation," said City Business Manager Al Myers, "then it would seem that the Roosevelt recovery policy has gone around the corner to meet prosperity."

Quiet Home Parties Here On Christmas

Greatest Of All Holidays Joyfully Celebrated With None Neglected

Many delightful home parties and family reunions about the festive board marked the celebration of Christmas in Sierra Madre.

Mrs. Tom Tyler, of Santa Anita Court, entertained 12 friends at pre-Christmas luncheon at La Casa Vieja Tea Room recently.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Vanderpool, of 455 Woodland Drive, entertained with a dinner on Christmas. Guests included Mrs. Glenn Foster and son Donald, of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wamock, of East Central avenue entertained with a dinner on Christmas Day. Guests included E. C. Polsue and Mrs. Merrill J. Scoville.

Mrs. Harley Hogan entertained with a family dinner on Christmas. Guests included her father, Ellis Johnson, of Van Nuys, and sister, Mrs. Velma Garret, of Long Beach.

The Women's Exchange, West Central avenue, enjoyed a Christmas party on Friday afternoon. Luncheon was served to about thirty, which included families of the workers. Presents were given each person present and a Christmas tree was enjoyed.

Christmas carolers from Bethany Church gathered for breakfast early Christmas morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. R. Moore, 689 West Central avenue. This is an annual affair and looked forward to eagerly by the singers. About forty-five were present.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. R. Moore, of West Central avenue, entertained with a weekend house party. A dinner was held Christmas Day. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Cheesman and sons Donald and Kenneth, of Glendale; Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Graves, of Van Nuys; Mrs. A. McCuffin and Miss Anne McCuffin, of Westwood, and Mrs. Martha Rust, of Sierra Madre.

A family dinner party was held on Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shippey, 297 Nehr Drive. Guests included Mrs. C. A. Rickter, of Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. Shippey, Mrs. Virginia Davis and Miss L. Shippey.

Harry Caldwell, of Soochow, China, was dinner guest on Christmas of the J. Earl Gossard family, 354 North Canon avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Convers L. Twycross, of 123 South Baldwin avenue, entertained at dinner on Christmas. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sparks, of Pasadena, S. R. G. Twycross and Mrs. Helen Hammond.

Mrs. M. R. McDowell and Dr. Edythe M. Dutcher, of Belle Vue Court, spent Christmas with Mrs. Firestone, of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Nicholson, of Ontario, were Christmas guests (Continued on Page Three) throughout the Nation," said City Business Manager Al Myers, "then it would seem that the Roosevelt recovery policy has gone around the corner to meet prosperity."

The directors of the city's welfare problems were both amazed and jubilant when the seven men turned in their cards. "Sorry," they said, "but we got our old jobs back."

Just a short week before Santa Claus had arrived with 99 jobs on the Central avenue extension project and the same seven men considered themselves fortunate. Before they drew their first pay from Uncle Sam Santa Claus came beckoning again. "Nobody aint agoin' to tell me there aint no Santa Claus," said one of the workers.

In the midst of the excitement at City Hall City Clerk Waverly Pratt called attention to another unfailing sign that better days are here.

"Our records at the City Hall show that a number of families have moved to Sierra Madre recently because of the prospect of employment," said Pratt. "This should be of interest to the city's business houses and merchants. One man came here only two weeks after arriving in California because he believed his family would greatly benefit thereby."

Tomorrow will be a happy day for the first 100 men employed on the Central avenue improvement. It will be their first pay day. The two shifts from Sierra Madre are still working on the road west of Villa station. Work on the Sierra Madre end will not begin until the Western section is completed.

City's Terms For Pasadena's Water Line Are Submitted

Sierra Madre's council approved a proposed contract Wednesday night under which Pasadena may construct its conduit through Orange Grove avenue connecting its Pine Canyon dam in San Gabriel canyon with the Sunset reservoir in the Crown City. If Pasadena signs the document which was submitted to it yesterday, the pending suit to force a right of way here will be abandoned.

The contract was drawn up by City Manager Al Myers following a conference with Pasadena's trustees and water department officials. It calls for the payment to this city of $6,042 before any work shall begin, this amount to cover damages and the cost of restoring Orange Grove avenue to its present condition.

It requires that the job shall be done under recently adopted Ordinance 356, which gives the street superintendent general supervision of the work, provides for the employment of a local inspector at Pasadena's expense, that there shall be no obstruction of Baldwin or Sierra Madre avenues while the job is under way, that there shall be no work between 9 p.m. and 7 a.m. and that Pasadena shall assume any claims for damages to persons or property that may now or later be claimed.

New Kiwanis Head Will Be Installed On Tuesday Evening

Annual installation ceremonies of the Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club will be attended by club members and their wives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lawless Tuesday evening, and at that time William Middough will officially become president of the local organization for the year 1934.

OUT OF THE ORDINARY

Bishop Whittingham of Ipswich, England, says its all right for women to appear in church without hats. He declares that St. Paul's supposed interdiction against women appearing uncovered referred to veils and not to hats. Hats had not been invented in St. Paul's time. In fact, hats as we know them were not made until about the year 1404, in Paris, and were not introduced into England until a century later.

It may be surprising to many to know that there are now 18 Girl Scout troops for the blind in the United States. Mrs. Helen Ward Stevens, a director of the National organization, says that regular girl scouting can be given blind girls and that few changes in the ordinary requirements are necessary; also that "the girls themselves want no changes, no concessions."

Although the baseball season is some time past, belated mention may be given the Sibilsky team of Houghton, Mich., composed of nine brothers, with the father as coach, which has a fine diamond record. A report of one of their innings might have read thus: "With Sibilsky on first and Sibilsky on second, Sibilsky singled, filling the bases. Then Sibilsky hit a home run, scoring four Sibilsky's."

California, home of the violin prodigies Menuhin and Ricci, has produced another outstanding child artist, Ruth Slenczynski, 8-year-old concert pianist. After her recent recital in New York, the Times said of her rendition of a Chopin Etude that it "was articulated on such tremendous proportions for a child that the audience fairly gasped at several places in the performance."

JUST NONSENSE

Second Steno.: "Tickled me, too."

"Dearest," sighed the young man, "couldn't you learn to love me?"
"I might," said the girl. "I learned to eat spinach."

Small son: "What are diplomatic relations, Father?"
Father: "There are no such people, my boy."

A lady had just purchased a postage stamp at a substation. "Must I stick it on myself?"
"Positively not, madam," replied the postal clerk. "It will accomplish more if you stick it on the envelope."

An American, newly arrived, went into a London teashop, took a seat and waited. Presently a bright-eyed waitress approached him and asked, "Can I take your order?"
"Yes, two boiled eggs and a kind word."

The waitress brought the eggs and was moving on, when the American said, "Say, what about the kind word?"
The waitress leaned over and whispered: "Don't eat the eggs!"

Motorist who always insists on his rights, just regaining consciousness: "I had the right of way, didn't I?"

His disgusted passenger: "Yeah—but the other fellow had the truck."

ABOUT WOMEN

For 51 years Dr. Annie Sturges has been an active member of the medical staff of the New York Infirmary for Women and Children, ministering to the city's poor and sick in the tenement district.

Mrs. Sarah Sullivan, who is manager of a 42-acre ranch, near Manteca, Calif., plows, harrows, and does other farm work and twice a week makes the rounds of 98 grocery stores in the San Francisco Bay area to sell melons and produce.

Mrs. Dorothy Lambert of Columbus, O., who claims to be the only woman football coach in the world, has organized her Sunday School pupils into a team.

Mrs. Rebecca Gold, of New York, who was recently admitted to the bar, cared for her three children while going through law school.

Miss Doris Byrne, 28-year-old lawyer, is the first woman to be elected to the New York state assembly from the Bronx.

A new law gives women of the Philippines the ballot, but only those who can read and write and own property worth $250 or more may vote.

Endeavorers Hold Watchnight Party

A New Year's Eve Watchnight party will climax the busy day as Christian Endeavorers cram the last day of 1933 with numerous events. After many of the members have spent the morning in Sunday School and church, the group is asked to meet at Bethany church at 1:40 in the afternoon in order that they may be able to arrive at the L.A. county union's general assembly on time. Pasadena division, of which the Sierra Madre group is an important part, has reserved a section of 140 seats in the front section of the auditorium.

There will be ample transportation provided to take the young people to the First Presbyterian church at 20th and Figueroa. In the early part of the evening, at 6:15 both societies hold their respective pre-prayer circles. Then at 6:30 in the Junior High society Robert Coit will lead the group on the subject, "New Year Resolutions." During the same period, the Young People society is to be led in its service by San Hohri, who announces his subject as "The Christian Endeavorer's Challenge." Everyone is asked to be prompt in their arrival to these meetings. The regular evening church service will hold the Endeavorers from 7:30 until 9 o'clock when they will adjourn for their final social of the year which will wind up in the early hours of the new year.

A re-election in the local Jr. High society placed Herbert Lacey as president, Mitsuo Kunihiro as vice president, and retained the other officers.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
Director, Physical and Health Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Beware of Malnutrition

If you suspect that your child is undernourished, find out for sure. Don't guess. And don't be satisfied with your own diagnosis. Take him to a physician.

I can't emphasize that too much, for it is a condition often accompanied by lowered resistance to disease. Moreover, it is a condition that requires certain techniques and abilities which only a physician has.

Malnutrition and underfeeding are not the same, although underfeeding is sometimes a cause. There are children who have enough to eat, but who are striking examples of malnutrition. The explanation is simple—they don't have the right things to eat. Their stomachs may be filled and appetite satisfied, but the foods needed by the body for growth are not supplied.

Studies of school children in different parts of the country show that malnutrition exists to the extent of ten to twenty per cent of the enrollment. With the knowledge of food and of body needs which we have today, malnutrition is sad evidence of our neglect to apply what we know. It shouldn't be so, and gradually we are coming to realize what an important part correct feeding plays in growth, health, and happiness.

Dr. Ireland will write next week about the undernourished child.

Over Six Million Persons On Uncle Sam's Payroll Now

One out of every 20 persons in the country has a federal position, making a total of over six million men and women on Uncle Sam's payroll, according to an announcement from Washington.

Following is a partial list of the number employed in the new bureaus created by the President: National Recovery Administration, 3729; Agricultural Adjustment Administration, 3729; Public Works, over 1,000,000 men; CWA, 4,150,000; Federal Home Owners' Loan Corporation, 15,000.

The Civic works projects alone, reports from Washington show, are costing the government an average of $50,000,000 a week. The figure is based on expenditures from an original allotment of $400,000,000 made to the CWA from the public works fund. This fund is expected to be exhausted in about six weeks, at which time it will be replenished with an additional $350,000,000 which will carry work on into the spring of 1934.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes

By JEAN NEWTON

WHAT IS ARTISTIC TEMPERAMENT?

THE English writer, Mr. St. John Adcock, tells the story of a young artist who excused his poor physique, which he made no effort to improve, with the remark, "A highly sensitive and artistic temperament invariably goes with bad health."

"Strange, then, what a healthy specimen Browning was—and Shakespeare, and Michelangelo!" replies Mr. Adcock, adding: "Frankly, I think we are too ready to confuse artistic temperament with things that have nothing to do with it."

How many of us have thought that when people tried to excuse all sorts of weaknesses and failings by their license as "artists?"

It is not only a delicate constitution that has long been mistakenly associated with the artistic temperament. How about a disinclination or "inability" to work—except under special inspiration? How about the parasitical attitude that the world—or the ordinary, prosaic members of a family—owe a living to the "artist" and leisure to pursue his sacred art? How about a general feeling of contemptuousness or at least superiority over the mundane world which justifies its existence by means other than following the muses?

This covering a multitude of sins with the "artistic temperament" is something that is rightly debunked. It is true that certain kinds of creative work requires a greater degree of concentration and an opportunity for greater detachment from routine matters than work which is in itself routine. It is also true that such work is a privilege and a blessing for the greater satisfaction it brings, for the pleasure and joy the worker derives from it. To my mind it is not true that those of us who happen to have this privilege have the right also to expect from others more than the usual give and take—nor to be excused, on the ground of "artistic temperament," from the ordinary amenities or obligations which are reciprocal with all of us.

What is "artistic temperament?" Is it a gift for creative work, or is it a cloak for selfishness, laziness, and a lack of self-control?

LOCAL CONTRACTORS, WORKMEN BUILD PERMANENT CHRISTMAS GIFT TO THE OLD PEOPLES HOME

Architects Drawing of Foskett Unit

LOCAL contractors and workmen are at work this week on the permanent Christmas presents for the residents. They were received by Mrs. E. A. Powers, the matron, and made a tour of the home and grounds. A beautiful large Christmas tree decorated the reception hall.

Sunday a Christmas tea party was presided over by Mrs. F. Sedding, president of the home, and the drive for an endowment fund for more units was informally resumed. At present faced with a long list of applicants, composed of aged people of British birth or descent, the institution is the only one of its kind west of Chicago.

Contracts for the building were let to the following local contractors: Dave and Jack Buchan, cement work and plastering; Robert Babbitt, plumbing, and Sierra Madre Electric company, the electrical work.

No Sierra Madre Float In Country's Greatest Pageant

Sierra Madre will have no float in the Pasadena Rose Tournament parade New Year's Day. That fact came as a distinct disappointment to the many who had hoped to see the city represented in the pageant over which Treva Scott, a Sierra Madre girl, is to rule as Queen.

Several months ago a committee was appointed to arrange for this city's participation in the greatest of pageants, but no provision was made for financing the project which seemed to droop and die for lack of attention.

THE FIRST GOOD SNOW

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WHEN you find the first white hair,

Sort of takes you by surprise. You have had your usual care, Clouds that came to summer skies,

But the clouds have drifted on And the sun has shone again— Though the spring has passed and gone, Never thought of winter then.

But some morning in the fall, Yes, some day before you know, You will find the meadows all Covered with the first good snow. It's a warning and a sign That the winter isn't far, And you fill the shed with pine, Knowing what our winters are.

When you find the first white hair It is time to think of things. Wrap your heart in warmer wear, In the faith that comfort brings. Draw up closer to the fire.

To the loved and loving near, Think of things the old require. For the first good snow is here, © 1933, Douglas Malloch.—WNU Service.

Study Of Nations Problems Begun By Local Housewives

The Sierra Madre Council of Housewives, organized through the Woman's Club for the purpose of informing the women of the community on National and civic affairs, met Wednesday for the first time. Mrs. W. J. Lawless lead the discussion on the subject of coordination of California's power plan as related to the National recovery program, with particular reference to the Central Valley Water Plan Unit.

Restoration of agriculture, affecting country life, as outlined by President Roosevelt's Subsistence Farm program as well as suggested colonization of unemployed in Los Angeles County, was discussed.

Citation was made of tax free cities whose profits from municipally owned utilities have paid the cost of local government and a former resident of Fort Morgan, Colorado, told that in that town a municipal light plant provides adequate street lighting and free porch lights throughout the city.

Status of the state Cooperative Relief units was briefly spoken of, and plans laid for detailed study in the future. Open to all Sierra Madre women, the next meeting is to be held following the Woman's Club luncheon program, Wednesday, January 10.

Art Exhibit Brings Many To Gallery

Current Showing Attracts Critics And Students From Many Sections

No recent exhibit at Sierra Madre's Little Gallery in the City Hall has attracted so many out-of-town visitors as the current showings of the work of E. A. and Luvena B. Vysekak, his wife. Over the week end many present and former students of the Otis Art Institute in Los Angeles came to Sierra Madre, as well as art classes from Claremont and San Gabriel.

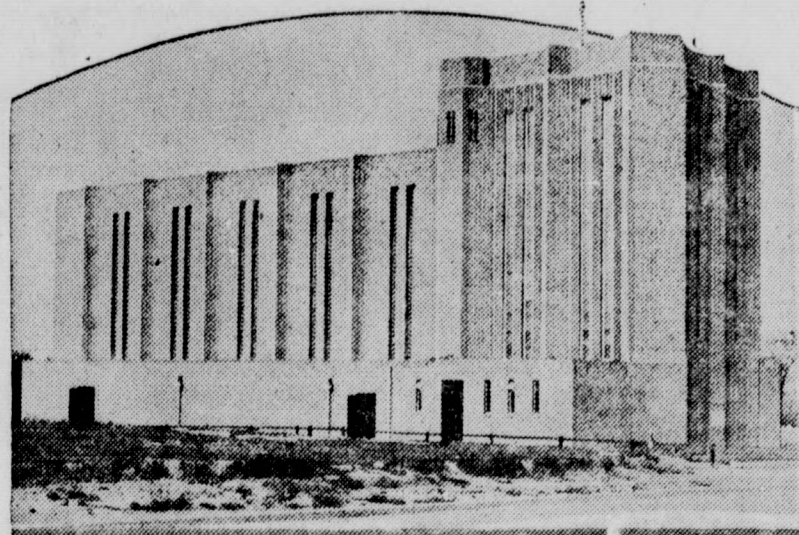

With the figures splendidly executed, one of the most impressive pictures that attracts the visitors is an allegorical one of "The Empty Tomb" portraying the two sun-clad angels appearing to the women who waited outside Jesus' tomb after the crucifixion. The central lighting, on the bodies of the angels, is in brilliant yellow gold. "The Covenant" shows flame colored figures with arms uplifted, surrounding the representation of Noah, with the shadow of a rainbow bulking in the background. Another exceptional painting, titled "Easter Morning," of a reclining nude, brings out delicate skin tints.

"Hollywood," a blaze of klieg lights, criss-crossing in the sky, is unusual. Scenes of hills and valleys, more subdued, as well as a number of prize winning portraits are all in contrast to the more extraordinary ones.

Mrs. Vysekak's paintings, of flowers as well as portraits, are worth close attention, although by comparison to her husband's unusual works, recede somewhat into the background.

Don't forget—THE NEWS print shop is equipped to turn out quality printing of every kind promptly and reasonably.

"Futurist" Church Arouses Protests

EXTERIOR view of St. Saviour's church at Eltham, England, which was completed recently at a cost of about $50,000. While some churchgoers express a liking for the new edifice it has, in general, aroused a storm of protest because of its fortress-like construction. It is built of purplish brick and has long slit-like windows. The vicar, Rev. G. H. Isaacson, sees in the building an attempt on the part of the church to meet the needs of the Twentieth century.

A. L. A. Activities

By Minnie Stinman

THE Juniors certainly enjoyed their party given by the Child Welfare Committee December 21, in Legion Hall. Of the 15 Juniors, only one was absent, owing to illness. The grand surprise was the presentation of an Auxiliary pin to each Junior. If the unknown Santa whose generosity prompted this gift, was anywhere within hearing, his heart must have been warmed by the children's appreciation. Such 'Oh's' and 'Ah's' and gasps of delight as each received the tiny emblem of a membership that means so much to us all. As our Juniors grow in stature and knowledge they will come to a fuller understanding of what membership in the American Legion Auxiliary really means. Let no one imagine that the Junior Auxiliary is an empty name, or merely something to keep the children amused on Saturday while mother goes shopping. It is a real organization, with ideals that the children are trained to live up to, and a forward look toward the time when, at the age of 18, they become Seniors.

As the years between the World War and the present increase, those women who lived through those trying days of the Great War decrease in numbers. This would not matter if hospitalization and rehabilitation were the only activities of the Auxiliary. Our organization would probably last as long as it would be needed. But hospitalization and rehabilitation work, though very important, is only a small part of our far-reaching program.

The work we do in other fields touches the life of the Nation in so many ways that we believe our organization should last longer than the lives of the generation of women who witnessed the World War. So we are trying, as best we know, to train the daughters who have no personal knowledge of the events from which sprang our organization, so that they may efficiently carry on the aims and ideals of the American Legion Auxiliary.

This country of ours has paid an enormous price for the principles and ideals on which it is founded. The women of the Auxiliary believe that this priceless heritage should be safe-guarded for the tomorrow of America. Sullyng hands must not be allowed to drag down our beloved flag, neither shall those forces of destruction undermine our National life by their anarchistic doctrines. This resolution, expressed or understood, is the every-New-Years resolution of the American Legion Auxiliary, to the keeping of which, we bend every effort to teach true patriotism.

The organization is working, not only to keep patriotism part of the education of every child, but to bring to all citizens a fuller comprehension of the duties and responsibilities of American citizenship. And where could a better beginning be made than in our Junior Auxiliary.

Therefore, we invite every eligible girl, up to the age of 18, to join this group, and, having joined, come and take an active part in the meetings. In this, as in everything else, you get out of it just what you put into it, and, helping others, receive greater benefits than you give, though you may not realize it.

On Wednesday afternoon, December 27, the Junior Auxiliary was entertained at a very pleasing surprise party at the home of Mrs. A. Goodier, 673 West Grand View avenue. All were present except Norma Hogan and Grace Jensen. After enjoying the beautiful tree and the treat provided by the hostess, the Juniors sang and recited poems and gave some of the dances they have been learning.

Fire Flames

By one of the boys

WELL, Christmas is over for another year, and altho' it is a great pleasure to make people happy, the writer knows that there are a lot of tired firemen, or were after the kids were treated at the tree on Christmas eve. As early as 7 a.m. Sunday morning, a group of fellows gathered at the City Hall to begin to prepare the baskets for distribution and they were still working at 6:30 p.m., only to hurry and get down to the Park and the tree. Joe Swanson, one of the mainstays was compelled to go home and go to bed with a severe cold. Joe heroically arose on Sunday morning and appeared at the station, but after a few hours, he had to give it up. Charlie King, who is visiting Swanson and who is a former resident of Sierra Madre, aided the firemen greatly in making the Toy Shop a success. Charlie spent many hours at the shop and as he is an expert painter, his worth was greatly appreciated by the firemen.

Men of the department are grateful for the support given by the people in making the Christmas party a success. We hope that all who attended the dance and card party enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent. The firemen are always ready to aid in anything that is helpful to the community and again thank the public for helping us in the many things we undertake to do.

The red light around the new clock on Bill Middough's drug store has fooled many firemen the past foggy nights. From a distance the red glare mingled with the fog, resembles a fire, smoke and all. However the clock is a great thing for the downtown district.

In the midst of the heavy fog of Christmas Eve, a young man from Monrovia ran into and knocked over a large water hydrant at the end of Manzanita street, and despite the late hour, Marion Hayes and Al Freeland had to leave their warm homes to dig in the nice cool water for the shut-off valve that was buried under the flood of water. Veterans at this game, the two boys soon had the leak stopped and returned to their homes.

The extremely foggy nights recently should convince drivers that good lights all burning on their cars are necessary and that the cops are not always wrong when they insist on good lights. Left hand parking is another confusing habit. The driver coming in the opposite direction and lost in the fog, doesn't know whether to go to the right or the left of such a parked automobile. And now to relax until Wistaria time.

Health Officials Offer Help In Rat Eradication Here

William E. Shugg has been appointed supervising district foreman for rodent control work in the Sierra Madre-Monrovia district. Dr. J. L. Pomeroy, County Health Officer, announced yesterday. As a part of the Civil Works Administration program, an "army" of 200 men has taken the field in Los Angeles County for rodent control operations.

The rodent control "soldiers" are divided into 12 crews, one assigned to each district, where work is under supervision of the District Health Officer and the Chief District Inspector. All persons were urged by Dr. Pomeroy to report the presence of any rat-infested areas to their nearest Local Health Officer in order that such regions may be made known to the rodent control crew.

SNOW FERRY GOES INTO ACTION AGAIN

With Sierra highways blocked or rendered hazardous by recent snowfall, the Southern Pacific Company has resumed operation of its "snow ferry" for the transportation of automobiles between Sacramento and Reno during the winter months, it was stated by G. W. Wetherby, district passenger agent, for the railroad company.

This service is provided at low cost and it furnished in both directions daily, according to the announcement. Special end-door baggage cars are used to facilitate loading and unloading. The so-called snow ferry has become part of the railroad's regular winter service.

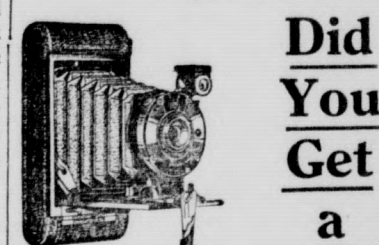

SIERRA MADRE GIRL AT "Y" CONFERENCE

Miss Elizabeth Morgridge, Sierra Madre violinist, left Tuesday morning for Asilomar where she will spend a week attending the Pacific Coast "Y" college students' conference. She is engaged as a member of the conference staff, with all expenses paid, to assist with the conference music. The vocal music will be in charge of George Garner, celebrated negro tenor, with Mrs. Garner as accompanist. This engagement has made it necessary to postpone an engagement which had been announced for Miss Morgridge to play on a program for Radio KGER next Sunday.

Dog Poisoner Works Even On Christmas; Palmers Lose Pet

In the heart of one person in Sierra Madre on Christmas there was no thought of kindness or good, and in consequence there was little cheer in one household. Monday the pet dog belonging to Mrs. Hazel D. Palmer, manager of the Pepper Tree Inn at 90 South Sierra Madre avenue, was fed strychnine and died, and no trace of the poisoner was found.

A pit bull by breed, the animal was the pet of every member of the Palmer family and the neighbors and acted as a watch dog over the poultry yards of the premises. Chief of Police McMillan suspects the person responsible is the one who killed Bruce, the Milton Steinberg's shepherd dog some weeks ago and who may also have been involved in the number of similar cases in the past year. Extensive search will be made in an effort to bring the culprit to justice.

Stiff Rules For Citrus Growers Now

Marketing Agreement Now In Effect Requires Estimate Of The Crops

Practical operations under the National Citrus Marketing Agreement for California and Arizona were instituted Tuesday when the Growers Advisory Committee acting under authority conferred directly on it by the agreement issued initial regulations governing all shippers of oranges and grapefruit grown in California and Arizona. The committee has established headquarters at 514 East 8th street, Los Angeles. W. C. Frackelton, formerly in charge of local citrus regulation under the voluntary Valencia Stabilization Agreement, has been appointed to manage the operations of the committee.

Estimates covering all oranges and grapefruit controlled by each shipper as of January 1, 1934, under the regulations must be filed with Growers Advisory Committee at once. The estimates must be filed by every shipper, including individual growers who are not affiliated with any shipper. The committee has levied a preliminary assessment of 25 cents per standard carload (462 packed boxes), which assessment must accompany the estimate. Forms on which official estimates can be made may be obtained from the Growers Advisory Committee. All estimates must be made on these official forms.

The committee announced yesterday: "It is essential that estimates be filed without delay because no shipper can receive an allotment or ship either oranges or grapefruit after proration goes into effect unless such shipper has submitted its estimate and had its prorate basis set. The prorate basis is determined by the estimate. The Distribution Committee has the authority to determine whether or not proration shall go into effect, and when. Every shipper should have its prorate basis set before any prorate program begins to operate. It is advisable to have all estimates, covering both oranges and grapefruit, in to the Growers Advisory Committee before January 1, 1934, or as soon as possible thereafter."

"Individual growers not affiliated with any shipper must file their estimates, have their prorate basis set and apply for their allotments. Under the agreement all shippers are treated alike, including individual growers who ship their own fruit. Growers who are not affiliated, therefore, with any shipper must protect themselves by filing their estimates with the Growers Advisory Committee prior to January 1, or as soon thereafter as possible."

"Every shipper in California and Arizona now is under Federal license. Shipping fruit without complying with the license subjects the violator to penalties of the Agricultural Adjustment Act. It is imperative that shippers become fully informed respecting the license under which they now must operate. The Growers Advisory Committee desires to cooperate to the fullest extent with all shippers and growers to the end that greatest benefits may result from operations under the National Citrus Marketing Agreement."

In submitting estimates of fruit controlled by it, each shipper can include in such estimate only that fruit eligible for sale under the Federal laws and the laws of the state where the fruit originates. The Growers Advisory Committee has authority to determine the form in which estimates shall be submitted, and the manner in which and the evidence by which such estimates shall be substantiated. Separate prorate bases will be set for navels (including miscellaneous varieties), valencias and grapefruit. All regulations of the committee are subject to revision and revocation by the committee.

The initial regulations provide in part as follows:

1—What fruit is governed by the agreement: (It is imperative that no fruit be moved except in conformity with the regulations of the committee.)

2—When to file application for allotments: (Each shipper before shipping any fruit must apply for and have its prorate basis

GARDEN NOTES FOR JANUARY

By Jessie Ward Russell
Landscape Gardener

NOW IS THE TIME that almost any kind of planting can be done in the garden. Plant materials are dormant now and the ground is moist. Deciduous trees and shrubs, berries, grapes and roses will transplant in their bare roots. If the leaves are not entirely off the plant, pull them off so as to stop evaporation through the leaves. Plants that do not drop their foliage during the winter should be transplanted with a ball of earth or from containers.

Peach trees should be sprayed now with Bordeaux Mixture or Lime sulphur to prevent curculiosis in the spring.

Work pulverized cow manure into the flower beds, about fruit trees and roses. Topdress lawns with weedless, cotton-seed-fed steer manure. This is three times as rich in nitrogen as cow manure and good brands are guaranteed to be free from dirt and weed seed.

It is not too late to set out young plants of pansies, violas, stocks, snapdragons, calendulas, and larkspur for late winter blooms.

Prune fruit trees. Do not cut bearing trees too heavily. Remove all weak and interior branches. Young trees should be cut severely to start vigorous growth.

If you are planning to re-landscape your garden this year, now

Colorful Story Of California Told By Prints And Sketches

Approximately 600 members and friends of the California State Historical Association visited the special exhibition of Californiana at the Huntington Library and Art Gallery in San Marino on Wednesday afternoon, constituting the annual winter meeting of the Historical Association.

The group was the largest single body which has so far visited the Huntington Library, representing three states, 16 California counties, and innumerable organizations. The California history enthusiasts viewed the current display of eighteen exhibit cases of rare books and valuable manuscripts as well as numerous old sketches and prints which have survived to tell the inspiring and colorful story of "California from Legendary Island to Statehood." Maps, diaries, and accounts were examined of earliest pioneers, 16th century explorers, 18th century Mission Fathers, the Mexican period, the Bear Flag Revolt, the American occupation, and of "gold and the great migration."

SCHOOL BOARD ISSUE LOSSES THREE TO ONE

Only 22 per cent of the voters of Arcadia took the trouble to vote at the recent election at which a proposed bond issue of $150,000 for construction of an earthquake-proof elementary school building was defeated by three to one.

Just 192 citizens supported the proposal and 551 swatted it. The total registration is 3334. Arcadia's school and property taxes are already high and the percentage of delinquencies is out of the ordinary. Now the school board will try to scrape enough money together to remodel and reinforce the old school building as suggested by State authorities, if the city cannot get an allocation of CWA funds for the purpose.

set by the committee. Estimates, therefore, should be filed with the committee immediately.)

3—Where to file applications: (Applications must be filed with the Growers Advisory Committee, whose address is 514 East 8th street, Los Angeles, California.)

4—Where to get applications: (Application forms and copies of the Federal license may be obtained from (a) the Growers Advisory Committee; (b) the county farm advisors and county agricultural agents; (c) local Chambers of Commerce; (d) or from the various packing groups.)

5—Basis of estimate: (Each estimate should include the following fruit of the shipper: (a) all fruit which by written contract or agreement the shipper has authority to handle; (b) or to which the shipper has legal title; or (c) for which shipper has paid 20 per cent of the purchase price.

is the time to start, when you can move the plants around with safety. In getting the garden into order you will probably need to change many plants into new locations.

Old plants, shrubs and roses that have gone to wood or are diseased should be dug out and thrown away and young healthy plants put in instead. Many gardens are almost spoiled just because "ratty" looking old plants are allowed to remain in them because the owner has become used to seeing them there and does not have the heart to pull them out.

Cupid Works Fast In School And College Foundation Learns

High schools and colleges are now the principal matrimonial agencies for educated people, says the Human Betterment Foundation in a report issued yesterday in Pasadena. Several thousand married couples have been asked where they first met each other, and the largest number state that they got acquainted by going to school together.

Meetings in the homes of friends are next in importance. Then come meetings in the course of business transactions or through working in the same place. Fourth in rank are the meetings through the church or church social organizations.

Summer resorts still play a useful role in matchmaking, but commercial recreation does not enable many educated people to find mates. The Foundation points out that most cities need much better facilities than they now have for enabling young people to make acquaintances and have a normal social life.

"Delayed marriages, unwise marriages, and failure to marry at all," the report concludes, "are often due merely to lack of a wide enough circle of friends. This is a great injustice to young people."

Interesting Slant On Unemployment In Latest Report

The County Welfare Department reports that between October 31 and November 10th, 64,403 active unemployment cases were on the list. Of the total 52,548 were white, 4491 negroes, 6970 Mexicans, 33 Chinese, 14 Japanese, 38 Indian, 135 Filipino and 174 of other mixed races. Of the total 7,653 were females. The average number per family was 3.16. The report shows that only two percent of the unemployed are of the agricultural class, while 60 per cent come from the ranks of general industry and labor. Of the total 21 per cent had been out of work for three years.

Growing Demand For Oranges Hopeful Sign For Growers

During the four years ending with 1932, orange and grapefruit production in the United States averaged 62,845,000 boxes, which is 42 per cent above the previous four years and 60 per cent above the average for 1920 to 1923. In 1931, 74,200,000 boxes were produced, and 1933 likewise brought bumper crops in the face of constantly decreasing buying power. The most encouraging thing to citrus growers is the way demand for these fruits held up during this period in which all of us have bought very carefully and millions had no money with which to buy oranges or grapefruit. These are statements of Paul S. Armstrong, general manager, California Fruit Growers Exchange, speaking on the outlook for the citrus industry to the Present Day Club at Riverside last night.

"The citrus industry in common with others, is exposed to National and even world forces, the results of which are not apparent or clear to anyone," said Mr. Armstrong. "In making forecasts, we must assume a return to more normal conditions, a substantial recovery from depression and a stable currency. We must apply our best thought to our industry problems and work them out together."

"Citrus growers have had their assets diminish since 1929, but as compared with the shrinkage in other investments, most growers will agree that their citrus properties have fared better and are still more promising than most investments. Our present difficulty is that from $150 to $200 per acre is required to maintain our groves, regardless of what our returns may be."

Hoffman Re-elected To Represent Local Avocado Growers

James D. Hoffman of Pasadena was re-elected to represent local district avocado growers on the directorate of the Calavo Growers' Exchange, at the local growers' annual district meeting held on Saturday at Pasadena.

Consumers are receiving better quality and better standardized calavos today than ever before, and at no increase in prices, while growers are receiving far higher per pound returns than were received a year ago at this time, announced George B. Hodgkin, general manager of the growers' marketing cooperative.

Considerable progress is being made to increase growers' returns through reductions in marketing costs, despite the prevailing lower general market prices. Mr. Hodgkin said. The 1933 season's average per pound return was approximately 10 per cent higher than that of the preceding year, despite 1933 encountering the worst market conditions in the exchange's history.

SKATING ALL WINTER AT BIG PINES PARK

Devotees of ice skating visiting Big Pines County Park this winter will have 34,000 square feet of ice to skate on, says a report from the Automobile Club of Southern California.

In a shady canyon three-quarters of a mile from the main camp, relief workers have cleared a skating rink 140 by 270 feet. Skating ice will now be available throughout the winter season, says the club.

Poor Yoricks!

Poor Yoricks! I knew them well, sighs Leon Cirri as he beholds a day's output of artificial skulls. This well-known Southern California sculptor recently filled an order for a plaster reproduction of a skull for a school and immediately he was besieged with orders which now amount to 10-000 annually.

Play Competition Arouses Interest With Cash Prize

Members of the Municipal Drama League as well as one else interested is reminding the Los Angeles County Drama Association of the national one-act playwriting contest now in progress and sponsored by the County Department of Recreation, Camps and Parks. The contest opened November 1, 1933 and will close March 1, 1934, being inaugurated to stimulate and encourage writings of plays for little theatres.

A fifty dollar cash prize will be awarded the winning play within 60 days after the close of the contest and production of the four best plays is promised. Every play submitted the playwright will receive three criticisms from three separate judges who will base their decisions on literary and artistic excellence of the play, dramatic quality and suitability for production in community playhouse or little theatre. Further information regarding the contest may be secured by writing or calling at the County Drama Association, 240 South Broadway, Los Angeles.

TRAIL STORE, ORIGINAL PACK TRAIN OUTFITTING STATION HERE, PASSES OUT OF EXISTENCE

THE Trail Store—long a picturesque link between the new and the old in Sierra Madre, is no more. Established in Sierra Madre Canyon in 1912 by Charles E. Chantry, it was a beehive of prosperity for some years, changed hands several times, then gradually slipped by the wayside as modern improvements in the trail it had fathered detoured trade. It finally closed this week.

Its founder, Charley Chantry, a venerable old-timer, lives alone now at 183 Merrill avenue. He came down the trail and founded the Canyon by accident in 1907. Impressed by the beauty of the spot he camped out there, and stayed on until the colony of newcomers crowded him out.

Returning with his wife from a six-months trip in the mountains on a search for gold, early in 1907, he came out by way of Sturtevant trail and landed in Sierra Madre with the expectation of soon going to Los Angeles to live. However, he was offered work on the Carter property upon arriving here, and seeing an opportunity to add to his income by renting out four burros which he owned, he decided to stay.

From then on Chantry ranched or rode pack trains for the Federal government, until 1912, when Sturtevant trail was built through to the canyon. Chantry immediately saw commercial possibilities there, and in the winter of that year he built his outfitting store, at what was then the western end of the trail, in which he carried everything from gasoline to ice cream. And he added the stables to house the pack animals.

To hear Chantry describe the store it must have been a veritable "gold mine" in its early days, for Sturtevant trail at that time was one of the most popular places in Southern California for outings, and anyone who went up the trail had to pass Chantry's store.

"On good days we often did a 'land-office business,'" he reminisced, "sometimes clearing $100 a day. On hot days we would sell as much as 20 gallons of ice cream, and there were always customers for gasoline, which sold for 11 cents a gallon."

In connection with the store Chantry continued to pack horses, and began a sight-seeing trip about the then-growing canyon in what was the second automobile in town, a car of nondescript make which Chantry had built himself with parts salvaged from wrecks or bought from second-hand dealers.

The new road up Santa Anita was the final blow that marked the Trail Store's end. Most of the hikers now ride up to the end of the paved road, and there is little traffic past the Trail Store except by those who live in the Canyon and do their shopping in the business section of Sierra Madre.

ART. Things

By Henry Ivins Hawchurst

OWING to the holiday season the Art League classes have been suspended until Thursday, January 4, when the evening classes will begin at the regular hour.

Beginning with the January classes a new policy will be adopted by the League. Examinations will be held for all enrolled students which will determine their ability and necessary instructions best suited for their artistic advancement.

Students who fail to take these examinations or those who join classes thereafter will be placed and promoted according to their ability.

By the way the "Old Barn" studio will be open New Year's eve for all of the Allied Artists and their friends—so why don't you come down some time (during the evening). A radio will furnish music for those who wish to dance.

Robert C. Hartzell Dies Suddenly In Pasadena Hospital

Military funeral services for Robert Culver Hartzell, disabled World War veteran and former resident of Sierra Madre, were held on Wednesday at Sawtelle Memorial Chapel. Members of the local American Legion post served pallbearers. Mr. Hartzell passed away Tuesday, December 19, at the Pasadena Hospital.

Mr. Hartzell was born 54 years ago in New Orleans, La., the son of the late Bishop Joseph C. Hartzell, who was for many years Methodist bishop, having under his supervision the continent of Africa and Southern Europe. He was the brother of the late Rev. Hartzell, for whom the Hartzell Memorial Church in Lamanda Park was named.

He is survived by one brother, Joseph C. Hartzell, of Blue Ash, Ohio. Interment was held at the Government Cemetery at Sawtelle.

As a tribute to Mr. Hartzell Stuart Hamlin of radio station KMTR sang "My Buddy," a song often rendered by Mr. Hartzell at the Sawtelle Soldier's hospital over the air at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. Later at the funeral services the same song was sung by "Bob" Hatfield.

Sierra Madre Legionnaires who acted as pallbearers were former Commander Ray O. Caukin, Norman Jensen, Frank Leary, George R. Lovejoy, James A. Irvine and J. E. O'Grady.

Miss Elizabeth Steinberger; Life Saving, James C. Heasley; Production, Mrs. H. H. Holland; Publicity and Disaster, Mrs. Jessica H. Wright; Welfare, Miss Louise Judson; Auditor, Herbert Ingraham.

A special letter of commendation from Mr. A. L. Shafer was read, expressing his appreciation of the efforts made by this chapter in reaching the quota assigned it in the Roll Call. As not many chapters in the State succeeded in raising their quotas this year, Sierra Madre is one of the few receiving the above commendation.

C. W. Jones made a very interesting report on a meeting of the chapters of Los Angeles County which was held in Los Angeles last week. This meeting was called by the Pacific Division Chairman to form a county association of Red Cross units for the purpose of more rapid and effective cooperation, in times of emergency, between chapters in adjoining territories. Of the 13 chapters in Los Angeles County, nine were represented and the framework of the association set up. It was decided to have an executive board of five members, and representatives from Los Angeles, Long Beach, Santa Monica, Pomona and Whittier were elected to serve. Mr. Jones stated he felt quite complimented when Sierra Madre, one of the smallest communities with a chapter, received four votes for a place on this committee.

The Directors elected Mr. Jones

as permanent delegate representing this chapter in the association, with Miss Vannier and Miss Judson as alternates.

Rejoicing Comes With Christmas

Songs from the throats of young carolers lightened the hearts of the community Christmas Eve and Christmas morning, and with a hundred men newly put to work a few days before, and every needy family provided with food and cheer by those who happened to be a little more fortunate, Sierra Madre had cause for rejoicing this year.

Gaily decorated trees and windows shone brightly downtown and on lawns and through the windows of many homes. Groups of parked cars in front of numerous homes gave proof that friends and relatives were gathered together in reunion, and the smell of woodsmoke on the air Christmas Eve led one to believe that old fashioned fire-place gatherings are not altogether things of a past age.

In the City Park Christmas Eve the Volunteer Firemen's organization acted as Santa Claus to scores of kiddies who gathered about the giant fir tree that was surmounted by the symbolic star. Large food baskets were taken to many households that otherwise might have been hungry on the earth's gladdest day. The success of the Firemen's annual program was assured Saturday night as the big dance and card party at the Woman's Clubhouse was exceptionally well attended.

The Kiwanis Club, at its annual children's party Friday, entertained approximately 150 youngsters. Of this number 40 attended the elaborate turkey dinner, and the others came in for their share of the gifts and candy and witnessed the two hour entertainment that followed the meal. A motion picture, as well as several acts of magic tricks, were on the program, and President Jack Woehler acted as master of ceremonies.

There are many scores of local boys and girls who are in a position to testify to the success of the Firemen's Toy Shop, and Chief W. D. Richards wishes to make public the Firemen's appreciation for the many contributions of used toys that made possible the good work of Santa Claus in bringing joy to Sierra Madre youngsters.

Shutins all over Sierra Madre were cheered on the eve of Christmas day by carol singers from the Congregational Church choir, led by Mrs. George B. Morgridge while the young people of the Church of the Ascension participated in the singing of unusual carols in the church.

At St. Rita's Church elaborate musical programs supplemented the special Mass services, and included on the program were soprano solos by Miss Beatrice Connor.

Over forty members of the Christian Endeavor Societies of Bethany Church carried out the cheery mission of singing to shut-ins Christmas morning, and afterward were guests at the F. D. R. Moote home for breakfast.

Name Judges To Pick Play For Tourney

Four One-Act Presentations
Here To Precede Santa
Ana Competition

Request is made by the Play Selection Committee of the Municipal Drama League for immediate submission of all one-act play scripts thought suitable for entrance into the local tournament which is to decide Sierra Madre's entrant into the Santa Ana tourney.

The committee, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fuller, James N. Hawks, Mrs. Sally Dewey and Harry Burke, will be the final judge as to what scripts are outstanding. Prior to the class time next Wednesday, January 3, a general meeting of the active membership will be held for reading of the Drama League's newly formulated Constitution and for its approval by members. Membership cards will be issued at that time, standing for competition.

At the close of school, each of the 40 guests present were given a wrapped package, which when opened later proved to be provisions. The school board of charity voted that each package, which contained an article such as butter, eggs, ham, bacon, etc. go to start a basket and be distributed by each guest to needy persons the next day.

Crown Treva Scott Queen Of Rose Fete In Dazzling Affair

time showing, and a final presentation will be held tonight.

It has been a busy week for Sierra Madre's Queen. Up at 7 every morning, to hurried appointments with costumers, photographers, hairdressers, interviewers, to fatiguing rehearsals every night, and to bed at last in the wee sma' hours—all of that in addition to the regular work-a-day variety of work that she has continued to do daily.

Yesterday she met Admiral Sims, today she is scheduled to be photographed with him. Wednesday the Tournament's queen was guest of honor at the Los Angeles Breakfast Club, where she met a score of notables and greeted Columbia University's football envoy.

Outside of a hundred and one details that she is at present too happily confused to remember, tomorrow and Sunday are going to be comparatively free.

Then comes the day of all days. New Year's day. Monday—California roses in mid-winter. The most beautiful girls in the world. Uniforms.

Notables. Pomp and band music. Yellows and greens and flame. Spring colors. The Golden State's cornucopia of plenty overflowing. Laughter and cheers and seas of faces. Roar and hubbub and fairy gold laces. TOURNAMENT!

Parade starts at 9:30 in the morning, lunch at the Vista del Arroyo at noon, football game at 2:00—the Queen guest in former President Herbert Hoover's private box. So will end the day.

Quite a kaleidoscope of events has already come Treva Scott's way since she was named Queen. Even in the event she turns down the stage and screen offers that are bound to come her way, and settles back into the small town routine of school days, she will have much to look back upon in the years to come. Perhaps some of the comparatively small and amusing incidents will remain fresh in her memory.

The day she was photographed half buried in jeweled diadems and crowns. "Just as the cameramen were about to snap pictures," she laughs, "I had to sneeze." But her eyes were sparkling with the vivacity of youth, as she said that, and her cheeks were flushed more brightly than any rouge could have made them. After all, playing Cinderella is fun. Hail, Queen Treva! May the midnight bells long hold their silence for you.
